[The Editor of THE LEDGER is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents; but nothing reflecting upon the character or habits of any person will be admitted to these columns.]

Correspondents will please send letters so as to reach us not later than 2 o'clock a. m. Give facts in as few words as possible. We want news in this department, and not advertising notices or political arguments.

OUR AGENTS.
The following are authorized Agents for THE PUBLIC LEDGER in their respective localities:
Moranburg—Matthew Hoffman.
Helena—Robert B. Cord.
Minerva—Frank W. Hawes.
Sardinia—B. G. Grady.
Cranenburg—C. R. Ross.
Springdale—C. C. Deegan.
Maysville—Charles Wheeler.

RECTORVILLE.
Warm weather.
W. T. Pollitt had his sale yesterday.
Frank Day of W. C. is here on a visit.
Several of our teachers are attending the Institute this week.

Miss Irene Rowland left yesterday for Midway where she will attend school.
The contract for building our new schoolhouse is still open. Let us have some more bids.

PEED.
A great deal of tobacco is being cut in this section this week.

Isaac Manly died at his home near Maysville Monday morning, Aug. 29th.

Mrs. E. P. Berry and children returned to their home at Cynthiana Saturday.

A large crowd from this vicinity attended the Sunday school picnic at Ewing last Saturday and report a good time.

Mrs. William McGhee and daughter and Mrs. C. W. Williams left Monday morning to visit friends in Lexington and take in the fair.

Misses Nannie Coulthard and Byrnianna Dunnington of Paris returned home Saturday after a week's pleasant visit with friends and relatives here.

T. J. Prather and wife left Monday evening to attend the funeral of Alexander Daugherty, who died at his home near Millersburg last Sunday evening. Mr. Daugherty was formerly a citizen of Mason county.

MORANBURG.
Some of the farmers have commenced cutting tobacco.

The apples are falling from the trees. Winter apples will be scarce.

Joseph McNutt is improving his farm by putting up a stone fence.

The colored folks talk of commencing their new schoolhouse this week.

Our friend Hamer Rye is still in bad health at his home near Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. William Marsh visited relatives in Charleston Bottom last Sunday.

Emmitt Turner is said to have the best growing crop of tobacco in this neighborhood.

THE LEDGER went on to Germantown last Tuesday and returned Wednesday morning.

John Higgins will rebuild his wire fence this week which was cut to pieces one night last week.

Miss Mattie McNutt of Maysville has been on the creek for several days visiting friends and relatives.

William Huber and family of Charleston Bottom were visiting the family of Thomas Straubough last Sunday.

We had two new and two good subscribers last week to THE LEDGER. Who will be the first to subscribe this week.

Miss Sallie Dickey of Hilltop, Fleming county, is the guest of Miss Sallie Hughes of near Fern Leaf. She attended church here last Sunday.

The people out here are interested one way and another concerning the Post-office. Be patient. Uncle Sam is a little slow, but mighty sure.

Jerome Applegate will teach the fall school at this place, and Miss Maude Downing will teach the Charleston Bottom school. Now do you understand.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Downing came down Sunday to see Mrs. Moran. Mrs. Downing's mother. We promised to say nothing about the apple butter and we won't.

C. D. Bradburg of Germantown sends the agent at this place twenty-five cents as regular as the month comes around to pay for THE LEDGER. Let a few others do likewise.

Rev. J. B. Nelson preached his farewell sermon last Sunday at the old Stone Church. At the close of the service the congregation joined in singing "God be with you till we meet again." Brother Nelson has been Pastor of the church for two years and says he has learned to love the members. While they are loth to give him up, we hope the conference will give him a good appointment. The best wishes of the people out here go with him wherever he may go.

MURPHYSVILLE.
Some time since a correspondent requested all points to make a report of themselves. I have been waiting to hear from our regular correspondent. But I suppose he is waiting for some startling event to occur before writing. But I am glad there is not any occurrence to note. Everything is delightfully quiet, no infringement, not even the old authoritative North Fork of Licking has made encroachment on the good people of this place for some time passed. It has just moved calmly on affording much joy for the boys to bathe and fish in, their enjoyment at this time of the year. But when the long winter nights come they congregate in the stores listening to the thrilling adventures of war and hunting, which the older ones are well supplied with.

I will give an old hunter story verbatim. Once upon a time I was in the wheat field cutting the grain on the Fourth of July, when a fox came by with a pack of hounds close upon it. I could not resist the fun. I left my work and started ahead of the hounds. I run about three miles till the fox started across the North Fork which was frozen over here. I captured him, and in the struggle I broke through the ice, but I waded to the shore with my fox, and when I went to raise my foot to step on shore it was too heavy. I sat down on the ice and pulled off my boots and they were full of very fine fish. This story might make the unsuspecting believe in miracles, but it is well known it comes from a source where truth never is expected to come.

Mines That Are Lost.
Everywhere throughout the west are lost mines. Every state and territory that has gold or silver has several of them. Around each there clings a halo of romance. The lost Pegleg mine on the Colorado desert is the latest to have an inn and be noticed by the press. There is a lost Cabin mine near Crater lake, in Oregon. Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and New Mexico have lost mines of some sort or other, all rich, and locked in the depths of the Navajo reservation in Arizona is another lost mine. Men with guns and picks and burros steal in from time to time in quest of the latter. Sometimes in referring to the various lost mines they are singularly mixed, until the problem is made harder to solve as to just what they are.

Suicides for Sensation.
There is in Paris a class of suicides who make every arrangement for studied effect. They are known to the police as suicides a sensation. To spite some persons and make themselves shudderingly remembered, all the details are thought out. Numberless letters of farewell are written, an elaborate will is prepared, the rooms are put in order, and the best clothes are donned. Poison or the fumes of charcoal are preferred by this class; the revolver or drowning disfigure the features too much and spoil the effect. And this form of suicide seems to be largely on the increase.

Crazes in Japan.
There have been during the past years a series of fashionable crazes in Japan. The year 1873 was the rabbit year. The Japanese went wild over these little quadrupeds. As much as $200 was paid for a single specimen, and speculations in $100 and $200 rabbits were of daily occurrence. Cock fighting, printing dictionaries by subscription, boating, whist, waltzing, gigantic funerals and table turning are among other recent crazes.
